

Kirstin Rossi

Associate Professor
Special Education and
Inclusive Practices

Kyle Whipple

Assistant Professor
Education for Equity and Justice

Play, critical care, attunement, and reflection as a foundation for early childhood gender expression and pedagogy

In this article, the current research on creating inclusive spaces for young children exploring gender identity is discussed in parallel with a trans man's memories of his educational experiences. The researchers offer teachers action steps to create inclusive classrooms for young children to explore their gender identities along with background information in queer-care as a pedagogical framework.