

PAYMENT FOR PERSONAL SERVICES

READ BEFORE COMPLETING THE ATTACHED FORMS

The purpose of completing the attached requisition is to assist you and other representatives of this institution in determining the proper method of payment for the individual whose services are being contracted for. A determination must be made relative to the existence of an employee-employer relationship between the individual and the institution in conjunction with the services being performed. If such a relationship exists, the individual must be paid via the payroll. The consequences of not properly paying these individuals in the event of an audit by the Internal Revenue Service are costly. In addition to the penalties imposed by the Internal Revenue Service, the institution is obligated to pay both the employee and institutional share of federal taxes normally handled via the payroll process. Conversely, the institution is also subject to a fine if an individual is payrolled when he/she should have been paid as an independent contractor. In those instances where the individual is not a sole source, purchasing guidelines apply. NOTE: UW-Eau Claire students and employees of other State Agencies must be paid on their home payrolls. Current employees of the University System whose services are provided outside the scope of the individual's employment at their home institution are paid on UW-Eau Claire's payroll. Contact Accounts Payable, 36-4528, for additional assistance and information.

Before you submit the requisition and a Payment to Individual Report Form (PIR) to Accounts Payable for processing, give careful consideration to some information provided by the Internal Revenue Service. Factors to consider in determining an employer-employee relationship prepared by the Internal Revenue Service in addition to other important information on payments for personal services are available for review as part of the University of Wisconsin System Administration's Financial Policy and Procedure Paper #31, Payment for Personal Services. This document is available on the Internet at <http://www.uwsa.edu/fadmin/fppp/fppp31.htm>.

Listed below are criteria used in determining whether persons providing services for the University are employees of the University System or independent contractors:

The following factors indicate an employment relationship may exist:

1. Instructors of college credit courses when the University contracts with the instructor.
2. Primary instructor of a course, be it for college credit, continuing education credit, or non-credit.
3. University of Wisconsin faculty members who provide services for the extension programs.
4. A rate of pay which is not unusually high or low for the services performed.
5. The fee or rate of pay is set by the UW System.
6. Performance of services is done in regularly scheduled classes over a period of time.
7. A continuing relationship between the UW System and the provider of the services exists.
8. The location and facilities are provided by the UW System.
9. The UW System has the right to discharge the provider of the services.
10. The provider of the services and the right to terminate the relationship with the UW and the UW would have the obligation to replace the individual, cancel classes, etc.

The following factors indicate that an independent contractor relationship exists:

1. Guest lecturers and consultants who are not the course instructors.
2. An unusually large (indicating expert) or small (indicating token appreciation) amount of pay for the service provided.
3. The UW System competes for the services of the provider, and pays his/her rate.
4. Contracting with a provider of services whose business is conducting workshops at many different universities and campuses.
5. The facilities are arranged and paid for by the provider of the services.
