What are Segregated Fees?

Segregated university fees (SUF) are charges, in addition to instructional fees, assessed to all students for student services, activities, programs and facilities that support the mission of University of Wisconsin System institutions. There are two categories of SUF, as follows:

(1) Allocable. Allocable SUF are those SUF that provide substantial support for campus student activities and services as outlined in Section I.(B)(6)(a) and that are allocated by students, in consultation with the chancellor and subject to the final confirmation of the Board of Regents, in accordance with s. 36.09\(5\), Wis. Stats. The student group organized at each UW institution for the purpose of engaging in the allocation process under s. 36.09\(5\), Wis. Stats., is referred to in this policy as the Student University Fee Allocation Committee or “SUFAC.”

(2) Non-allocable. Non-allocable SUF are those SUF that are used to support commitments for fixed financial obligations, personnel costs (except as indicated in Section I (B)(6)(a)(3), ongoing operating and debt service costs of student unions, health centers, child care centers, recreational and athletic facilities and other university owned or controlled buildings; transit and busing services, child care grants; and sports programming including inter collegiate athletics and intramurals, but not club sports. In accordance with s. 36.09 \(3\), Wis. Stats., chancellors, following consultation with students in accordance with Regent Policy 30-5, Policy and Procedures for Segregated University Fees, are responsible for the development of budgets and expenditures of non-allocable SUF.
